What is MediCool?

The Arctic Heat MediCool kit is a simple, skin-safe method for achieving and maintaining therapeutic hypothermia for improved neurological outcomes in sudden cardiac arrest patients.

- MediCool is an external cooling aid consisting of a number of component parts which contain a water absorbing co-polymer in a fabric covering
- When frozen, MediCool acts as a 'skin safe' method for effective cooling via conduction, convection and evaporation
- MediCool consists of a kit which comprises 2 colour coded sets and each set comprises of 1 blanket, 1 cap, 2 groin pads and 2 axilla pads
- The kit is designed to be rotated every 2 hours to allow continuous cooling.

Why use MediCool?

- Easy and convenient to store and prepare.
- Simple and safe to use.
- Cost effective for single patient use.
- Fully transportable when in use to allow uninterrupted cooling.
